1.25 Inches of Rain in Hope in 15 Minutes

Hope suffered a fierce wind, hail and rainstorm late yesterday afternoon and early last night but so far as could be learned no serious damage resulted.

The Experiment station reported a total of 1.02 inches of rainfall with 1.25 inches falling in exactly 15 minutes. Sheets of rain flooded the downtown area filling streets from curb to curb.

Some hail was mingled with the rain but did not cause serious damage. High winds followed the rain. Temperature for the 24-hour period was 71 high and 59 low.

A black cloud descended on the city about 6 p.m. and most of the local business establishments closed for the day. The rain reached its highest peak between 6 and 7 p.m.

The Water and Light plant reported at least two transformers and lines were down all over the city. Many areas were without electricity for several hours.

Lightning damaged the pump house at the Proving Ground leaving residents without water all night.

By The Associated Press

Storm conscious Arkansas had two slight scares yesterday (Monday) but escaped undamaged.

At Texarkana, a windstorm struck late in the afternoon and the weather bureau recorded northwest winds of 33 miles an hour, and 1.50 inches of rain.

Lightning struck power lines between Texarkana and Shreveport, La., and left the downtown section, including hospitals, without electricity for several minutes. No other damage was reported.

A wind, rain and hailstorm pelted El Dorado, but caused no damage. The hail was smaller than the tennis ball-size stones which fell last night and the fall was light, but the city had some anxious moments until the storm passed.

Tom Sawyer Pays Visit to Local Cast

Curly-haired, blue-eyed Rex Wilmon, 12-year-old professional actor and singer, paid Hope a visit Saturday. Young Wilmon, who will be "Tom" in the forthcoming production of "Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn," planned by Nationwide Pictures of Dallas, came here to meet the boys and girls of Hope and this area who attended auditions in City Hall Auditorium Saturday, and before that he had won a host of young, and older, friends.

Here as guest of Gene Thomas, who is producing and directing the stage musical with a cast of 200 Hope residents, Rex regaled the boys and girls and their parents with songs and stories, and scenes from the production. Several hundred local youngsters were on hand for the auditions and heard Rex demonstrate parts in the musical, and were completely captivated by the young actor's ability to perform as Twain's young scamp.

Following his personal appearance at the auditions, Rex went with Mr. Thomas to KXAR, where he assisted him in being "guest MC" for the popular "Swingtime" program, conducted every day at 8 p.m. by Marshall Hendricks.

A young "veteran" of 8 performances of the musical already, Rex was signed to a contract by Mr. Thomas after similar performances in Sulphur Springs, Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Royce A. Wilmon of that city, who will appear as Tom in professional showings of the musical production in St. Louis, Dallas, Shreveport, New Orleans, and Los Angeles, after which he will begin work as "Tom" in the movie.

The local presentation of the noted musical show will be held in City Hall Auditorium Thursday and Friday, May 20 and 21, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post No. 4511. Each member of the cast of 200 will have the same opportunity as young Wilmon, although there is no promise of assurance that such will be the case, if a Hope youngster is found to have sufficient vocal and histrionic talent, he or she may be signed to a contract with remuneration on a salaried basis.

The production, which will benefit the local VFW post in their welfare and other work.

Pines Pool to Open Under New Managers

Pines Swimming Pool, 2 miles west of Hope on Highway 1, will open to the public Saturday, May 8, the new operators, Tilman Beardon and Ishmael Cherry announced today.

More facilities will be offered to the public this year including a sandy beach alongside the pool and several sites for picnic parties.

The pool itself has been completely overhauled and fresh water daily is now available. The new managers have constructed a huge reservoir that will put over a half million gallons of fresh spring water into the pool each day.

New diving boards have been constructed along with other equipment for enjoyment of the public.

Strawberry Prices Slip Slightly on State Market

Bald Knob, May 4 —(P)—Prices for No. 1 grade strawberries slipped to an average of $6.65 a crate yesterday, but processing berries were higher, mostly at 21 cents a pound capped.

The university research bureau and U. S. Department of Agriculture report listed the price range from $6.00 to $7.00. The May 2 price on No. 1 grade berries was $7.00 to $7.75, with the average about $7.35.

May 2 processing berry prices, however, were 19.5 cents capped. The estimated May 2 movement was the equivalent of 25 cars of 440 crates each.

Three Left Dead When Tornado Hits Texas Town

McKinney, Tex., May 4 — — McKinney and nearby Princeton began to snap back to life today after the two north Texas towns were lashed yesterday by a violent tornado that killed three, injured 43 and caused widespread damage.

The storm, lashing out of a dark, half-swept sky, lengthened the list of tornado casualties in six states within a 48-hour period to 23 dead and more than 156 injured.

Storms hit Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Kentucky and West Virginia.

In Princeton, Earl Walker, chairman of the Collin County Red Cross chapter, said "everybody pitched in and helped us to get back on our feet."

The tornado battered the south part of the town and traveled on to Princeton, where heavy damage was suffered.

The dead were identified as J. H. Maynor, 35, who lived on a farm near Princeton; Mrs. Yola Lowry, 78, McKinney; and Arthur Holmes, whose age and address were not immediately learned.

Maynor was struck by lightning which accompanied the storm. He was riding on a tractor in a field near his farm house.

Gov. James B. Eads, Jr., described as a child, were hit by flying debris.

Telephone and power lines were knocked out temporarily.

Two field kitchens were speeded here to feed hundreds of homeless. One sent home from Fort Worth and the other, a Red Cross Mobile unit, from Oklahoma City.

Mayor R. F. Newsome and Public Works Director J. R. Bryan estimated that damage to McKinney alone exceeded $500,000.

They said that approximately 100 homes were damaged or destroyed. Walker estimated that 60 homes were destroyed or damaged at Princeton. Several farm houses between the two towns were badly damaged.

It was reported here a 14-year-old boy was killed by the storm at Princeton, but it could not be confirmed.

Hardest hit here were the Fannie Finch elementary school, the Texas Textile Cotton Mills, employing hundreds, and the city hospital.

Historian Does Not See Another War

By WILLIAM J. FOX

Memphis, Tenn., May 4 —(UP)—Dr. Forrest C. Pogue of Murray, Ky., eminent historian said today that he did not see a third world war on the way.

Now engaged in writing the high level history of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's European campaigns, Pogue stopped here for discussions with Gen. Ben Lear, former European deputy commander under Eisenhower.

There is still considerable risk involved in present conditions, Pogue said. "But I think the immediate danger of widespread war is less than it was a few years ago."

He did not minimize difficulties presented at Trieste, Berlin, Korea or Greece. But he pointed out that the Democratic victory in Italy had finally brought the west off the defensive.

Pogue is on his way to Vicksburg, Miss., for talks with Maj. Gen. Robert W. Crawford, president of the Mississippi River Commission and former supply chief for Eisenhower.

Pogue will visit Jackson, Miss., next. As a member of the historical division of the department of the army his official job is to compile the history of supreme headquarters Allied expeditionary force.

He is stationed at Washington and is working under a personal directive from Eisenhower, who will translate his scholarly leanings into action when he formally takes over as president of Columbia University on June 7.

Pogue has had access to all the secret high level documents and personal papers of Eisenhower and other Allied commanders.

He covered a combat historian's part in the combat historian's part in the Omaha Beachhead invasion to the end of the war as a soldier.

For nine years before the war he was history professor at Murray State College in Kentucky and has long been prominent in Kentucky.

Mediators Unable to Settle Rail Issue, End Discussion; Auto Workers Seek Hike

Chicago, May 4 —(P)—A mediation conference with the nations railroads ended today with no prospect of heading off a strike May 11.

"The situation is no brighter than it was yesterday afternoon when I said it looks like there might be a strike, Frank Douglass, chairman of the National (Railway) Mediation Board, said after another meeting with management.

"There has been no change in the attitude of the carriers," he added. "They are willing to give no more than was recommended by the presidential fact-finding board."

Douglass said he would meet this afternoon with the brotherhood representatives. He predicted the meeting would be short, lasting perhaps 30 minutes.

He and Francis A. O'Neill, Jr., a member of the mediation board, have been meeting separately with the management since Thursday after the brotherhoods set May 11 for their strike.

So far they have been unable to narrow down the issues in dispute enough to warrant calling a joint meeting of both sides.

"It looks very much like there might be a strike, Douglass said after yesterday's meetings. "The picture does not look good."

One Killed, 2 Hurt in Crash of U. S. Plane

Fuerstenfeldbruck, Germany, May 4 —(P)—An American B-29 crashed here shortly before midnight last night, killing one crew member and injuring two others. Nine other U. S. airmen aboard escaped injury. The $300,000 plane burst into flames and was destroyed.

The ship was part of a squadron taking part in a training flight in the Mediterranean area. The accident occurred about a mile and a half from the takeoff point. The other ships continued on their way.

Prompt action by base crash crews was credited with saving most of the plane's complement. They were at the scene less than two minutes after the crash, pulling men out of the flames.

"There was no immediate explanation of the crash," said a spokesman. "Field officers said men in other planes reported seeing the Superfortress suddenly dive and make a grinding belly landing."

It was one of 28 B-29s which arrived here April 29 for training missions. Two of three squadrons have returned to the United States. The third is tentatively scheduled to return about the middle of this month to Smoky Hill, Kansas, field where the bombers are based.

The injured men, taken to a hospital here, were Lt. Thomas G. Roberts, Jr., of Harrisburg, Ill., and Lt. James E. Silge, of Independence, Kas. Both suffered burns. Roberts' condition was reported as fair and Silgers as good.

Other crew members included: Lt. Robert Hickman, of Ashland, N. C.; Lt. James S. Smith, of Kansas City, Mo.; Sgt. John G. Sullivan, of Baton Rouge, La.; Pasquale A. Manz, of New York City; William O. Watts, of Sumter, S. C.; John C. Cyle, of the Bronx, N. Y.; and Criscenzio W. Glassville, also of the Bronx.

In Prospecting for Gold the 'Little Specks' Pay Off More Than the Big Nuggets

By HAL BOYLE

Lead, S. D. —(P)—The story of gold in the Black Hills—and it is the same story everywhere—is that the little specks pay off more than the big nuggets.

The man was — past tense — "Potato Creek Johnny" Perrett, a bewhiskered old prospector who spent his lifetime searching for gold in the Black Hills. He was the biggest nugget ever turned up in these "magic mountains."

The corporation is — present tense — the Homestake Mining Company, which has been looking for gold in specks here since 1877.

The specks paid off better than the nuggets. Potato Creek Johnny lived out his life in hopeful poverty. The Homestake became the largest gold mine in the western hemisphere. It is still producing.

Potato Creek Johnny was typical of earlier adventurers who flocked here by the thousands after the electric news swept America in 1874: "Gold has been found in the Black Hills." It was found by two scouts for Gen. George A. Custer.

The white men paid no heed to government warnings to keep out of the area, which belonged to the Sioux Indians. Mining towns rose, flourished and died in a period of months. Men became wealthy overnight. The Indians finally gave up their lands and received their customary reward — a paper treaty from the great white father and a lot of fragile promises.

As the gold dwindled in the creeks, the boom died and the adventurers moved on or settled down to workaday jobs.

Then began the period of business adventure in gold mining. A syndicate from San Francisco in 1876 purchased two claims totaling ten acres and began a systematic and scientific mining gamble on the Homestake site.

It took big money, but the syndicate had it. It ripped great holes in the earth, and built its own smelter.

But a few of the oldtime prospectors stayed on. With a burro for company and a pick, shovel and pan for tools they ranged the hills and creeksbeds, caught by the fever that never died — the hope of the "big find," the new El Dorado that always was around the next bend, somewhere on the next ridge.

The nuggets were few, the specks many. The Homestake sank new shafts, hired more men, installed huge machinery, built its own sawmill and power plant, expanded to 6,000 acres.

As the years bent him down, old Potato Creek Johnny became a Black Hills symbol, a faded picturesque character familiar to thousands of tourists. A mild, pleasant man less than five feet tall, he had sincerity and pride. Seldom his friends were hard put to figure a way to get him to take the food he needed.

Johnny died in 1943, and the people of Deadwood buried him in a hillside grave by "Wild Bill" Hickok. The grave overlooks the vast Homestake mine, which provides a livelihood, directly or indirectly, for 30,000 people. It is owned by 13,000 investors, few of whom ever saw raw gold.

The specks taken out of the Homestake amount to more than $400,000,000. The biggest nugget Potato Creek Johnny ever found was worth $29.25.

But he never had any regrets. Neither does the Homestake Mining Co., Inc.

Heavy Voting Indicated in Ohio Election

Columbus, O., May 4 —(P)—Ohio Republicans came out early and in force today to settle the battle between favorite son Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati and Minnesota's Harold E. Stassen for 23 of 53 delegates to the party's national convention.

Reports from all big cities showed Republican ballots were being handed out in today's primary election in numbers far in excess of those to Democrats. The latter were finding chiefly whether or former Gov. Frank J. Lausche or Ray T. Miller of Cleveland was their nominee for governor.

Cleveland and Akron reported heavy voting, with the Republican balloting especially heavy. At Akron Ray Finley, a Stassen campaign manager and former Democrat, was challenged but finally was given a Republican ballot. Numerous challenges but few refusals were reported in Cleveland.

Outside of Cleveland, Akron, and Columbus, voting was slow.

The Taft stronghold of Cincinnati reported exceptionally slow voting for the first three hours, with almost three Republicans to one Democrat going through the lines. Dayton where Stassen and Taft slugged each other in speeches last week, had "surprisingly" light turnouts.

Toledo, in the northwest corner, also reported Republicans far outnumbering the Democrats in the early part of the day. Observers there forecast only a 30 per cent vote.

At Columbus, the capital, a record 90,000 vote was expected.

Weather throughout the state was cool, cloudy, and dry.

The former Minnesota governor pinned his hope on 14 hand-picked districts — mostly in the northeastern Ohio industrial sector — for his assault on the home defenses of Senator Taft, the GOP congressional leader.

Taft was certain of 30 of the 53 delegates, for that number of his candidates are unopposed. Politicians said it would be considered a setback or Stassen should the Minnesota fail to get 10 or more of them.

Senate Near Decision on Oleo Tax Repeal

Washington, May 4 —(P)—The Senate neared a decision today on what to do with the House-approved oleomargarine tax repeal. The vote could decide the final fate of the bill.

Eleventh hour efforts to compromise differences between oleo and butter supporters proved fruitless.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), a member of the Agriculture Committee, tried to work out a compromise with some of the advocates of the bill last night, but no agreement was reached.

The oleo supporters want the bill referred to the Finance Committee. They think it has a better chance there of receiving prompt and favorable action than in the Agriculture Committee.

Aiken and five other interested senators conferred for an hour and a half. He said the conferees discussed ways of guaranteeing that oleo shall not be sold as butter in public eating places.

The objective was to get an agreement on such a provision with the idea that the oleo supporters might then withdraw their insistence that the bill go to the Finance Committee.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.), one of the leading advocates of the tax repeal, said no agreement was reached. He added he saw little chance that one would be in time to avert a Senate vote today.

Aiken said among the proposals discussed were ones to require (a) manufacture of oleo in distinctive shapes, a proposal the House rejected; (b) use of a different shade of yellow, and (c) that hotels, restaurants and other eating places which serve margarine be licensed.

Fulbright blocked any decision on the bill yesterday when he insisted that second reading of the bill be put off until today. Ordinarily bills are read the first and second times — a routine matter — on the same day. But any senator can block that procedure.

Wallace Tells Crowd He Is Not a Red

Columbia, Mo., May 4 —(P)—Henry Wallace, in a speech interrupted by shouts and occasional boos, told an audience of 5,000 yesterday he was not a Communist and accused his hecklers of being "fellow travelers."

The Third Party presidential candidate spoke to a crowd that included many college students. The University of Missouri, Stephens College and Christian College are located here.

Hecklers shouted and sang, "I Don't Want Him, You Can Have Him. He's Too Red For Me." There also were cries of "We Want Wallace."

Wallace said: "I propose to have you show me that the people still believe in the right to be heard. I am calling on you people to exercise the right of free Americans to free assembly and the right to speak."

Declaring that civil rights in the United States are in danger, he said, "we do not practice democracy here. We are regressing. We cannot have any influence in the rest of the world. Now let me hear you make a crack about that."

No response came from the audience.

Wallace said it had been suggested that he is a Communist and added, "It happens that I am not. Answering a shout from the crowd, 'what about Russia?' Wallace said:

"I'll admit I could not get free speech in Russia and I say to you who are trying to deny it to me here today that you are fellow travelers of the Russians."

The crowd became more orderly during the latter part of his speech.

Both Sides Are Attacking in Palestine War

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, May 4 —(P)—Jews calmed today the capture of an Arab village which had barred the way to Lydda airport.

Arab fighters were reported attacking the Jewish settlement of Kfar Etzion south of Jerusalem. Arabs said Jews fired upon a column of British-aided Arab Legion there yesterday.

Other skirmishes developed elsewhere in Palestine, where the end of the British mandate is now but 11 days away.

A United Nations truce commission made up of the French, British and United States consul general is believed to have gone to Amman, capital of Trans-Jordan, to confer with King Abdullah and the secretary-general of the Arab League, Rahman Azzam Pasha. Consulate sources declined to discuss their whereabouts. Abdullah has said he personally will lead the regular forces of Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Syria and Lebanon against Palestine Jews.

The Arab attack on Kfar Etzion was well under way by noon, according to sparse reports received in Jerusalem.

Jews last night attacked the 16th General Hospital on Mt. Scopus, held by Arab Legion units. An Arab spokesman said the attackers were repulsed with "hundreds" dead. A Jewish spokesman said the attack was retaliatory and only three Jews were killed.

Irgun vaI Leumi, Jewish underground force now allied with Hagana, the Jewish militia, announced in Tel Aviv the capture of the Arab stronghold village of Yehudia after an all night battle with the Arabs.

Yehudia lies 12 miles east of Tel Aviv and about four miles north of Lydda airport, where all air operations virtually have ceased.

Jewish military sources said Arab artillery shelled two Jewish settlements north of Jerusalem in the night.

The informants said 30 shells landed in the area of Neve Yacov and Atarot. Both settlements are on the highway between Jerusalem and Ramat Hashikma. They said there were no casualties and little damage.

Jerusalem was quiet during the night, although scattered firing was heard this morning in Melor and Beit Shimon, the areas where British forces are enforcing a Jewish-Arab truce.

Most of the Holy City was without light or power during the night, after a power station breakdown, only partially repaired by mid-morning.

Eye witnesses said Arab forces were forming in the southern hills for a massed attack on the Jewish settlement of Kfar Etzion.

The Arabs had a warning today from Gen. Gordon MacMillan that Britain will resist "with full force any Arab invasion of Palestine before the British mandate ends May 15."

Urge Stronger UN With or Without Russia

Washington, May 4 —(P)—Congress members of both major parties joined today in urging a stronger United Nations to promote peace — with or without Russia.

Reps. Hays (D-Ark.) and Judd (R-Minn.) called for the United States to take the lead in overhauling the U. N. charter. They spoke out firmly for going ahead with Russia if she will cooperate, but without Russia if she refuses to go along.

Hays said: "We do not want to junk the United Nations — we want to save it. xxx We want Russia as a participant in an agency for peace, but if Russia refuses every move toward perfecting the U. N., we must take steps without her. These steps would not be anti-Russian, they would be pro-peace."

Judd said he believes three-fourths of the people of the world would join in an effort to revise U. N., so it can be a real instrument to preserve peace and freedom.

Hays and Judd were the first of a series of Congress members to speak before the House-Foreign Affairs Committee on proposals to change the U. N. charter to get around Russia's frequent use of the veto.

The committee is starting hearings on the status of U. N. and American relationship.

About 30 representatives and senators have introduced similar resolutions which would put Congress on record for revamping U. N. All are aimed at the same objective — but propose different methods.

Judd and Hays said Russia use of the veto has blocked U. N. operations; but Hays says it is the veto itself, not its abuse, that causes trouble. So, he said, it must be modified.

Judd said Russian rulers have not used the veto once to prevent war, but have used it repeatedly to defeat steps for peace.

Youth Center Receives 100 Records

A wholesale house of Little Rock, 555 Inc., donated 100 phonograph records to the local Youth Center in the Elks building, Hervey Holt announced today.

The center is sponsored by the Hope Kiwanis Club and started last month. Roy Steuber, head of the Little Rock firm, made the contribution.

Paving Starts on No. 4 From Sardis to Washington

A State Highway Department crew has started blacktopping Highway No. 4 from Sardis to Washington. It was learned today. The highway has been closed to traffic which is being routed from Hope to Nashville via Belevins and McCaskill and Fulton.

Nashville School to Sell Building Bonds Today

Voters of Nashville School District of Howard and Hempstead counties last week approved sale of $18,000 worth of building bonds for construction of a grade school in Nashville.

The vote at Bingen was 15 for and none against. Sale of the bonds will be held today at Nashville High School.

At today's regular Kiwanis Club meeting Tom Muller, the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission showed a picture on wild geese and ducks in this state on a program in charge of Elmer Brown.

Guests included C. E. Wagner, Marshall Hendrix and Kenneth Powell.

Future of Holy Land Depends Largely on What Action United Nations Agree on

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Twelve days from now Britain will surrender the mandate over the Holy Land and the lid will be off the Arab-Jewish war — unless a harassed United Nations can evolve a plan to prevent a catastrophe.

Twelve days — just the flick of an eyelid as time goes when a fast-moving emergency like this is faced. At best, the U. N. will have to pull a rabbit out of the hat to handle the situation. At worst, this Middle East conflict could develop into another world upheaval.

And when one stops to survey the whole complicated muddle of the question, naturally arises whether there would be greater danger in continuation of the Palestine upheaval or in an inability of the U. N. to do anything about it. Certainly a failure of the peace organization to do something constructive would be a terrible blow to the morale of its supporters.

Anyway, England is giving up her mandate on May 15, and expects to have her troops out of Palestine by August 1. Furthermore, the British say that after the surrender of the mandate they will employ their diminishing armed forces merely defensively, to protect the completion of their withdrawal.

In short, all restraint will have been removed from the developing conflict — unless there is U. N. intervention.

Meanwhile the situation in Palestine is (to use the language of the British Army) "seriously deteriorating." Yesterday the Britons announced that they were rushing tanks and guns to the Holy Land from Cyprus and Greece to cope with the worsened conditions. This was to supplement a force estimated by competent observers to be about 25,000 troops.

Reports of developments are conflicting. The British, and Egyptian troops apparently have massed on the Palestine frontiers and may even have invaded the Holy Land, Saudi Arabia, Trans-Jordan and Iraq and are endeavoring to suppress the battle zone. However, when you have sifted out all the known facts, the rumors and the questionable reports, the situation seems to boil down to this:

Thus far the Jewish Army in Palestine has had the advantage in the fighting and has improved its positions. Moreover AP Correspondent Daniel De Luca reports from Jericho that he talked with Arab refugees bound for Trans-Jordan and that they were acutely skeptical of the reported agreement by the Arab nations to wipe out the Zionist state. One former Zionist merchant from Jerusalem said:

"Talk of Arab governments rescuing Palestine sounds like another case of 'too little and too late.' If they send all the 30,000 regulars they've supposed to have promised to send, the Jews have 45,000 trained soldiers here in this country and inexhaustible riches to draw on from overseas."

Whether this merchant was sure of his figures remains to be seen. Still, the indications are that the Jewish forces are relatively strong and have considerable excellent equipment. Furthermore, they presumably will be able to ignore further war material after the British mandate is surrendered.

There was one bright spot in an otherwise dark picture yesterday. Jews and Arabs agreed on a 48-hour truce in their battle for the Jerusalem quarter of Deir Yassin, near Gurney, chief secretary for the Palestine government, intervened to secure a cease-fire order. Surely this means that the position isn't hopeless from the standpoint of peace-makers.

U. S., Britain Split Over Holy Land

Lake Success, May 4 — (AP) — A split appeared to be developing today between the United States and Britain over the Palestine crisis.

This was indicated after the U. S. delegation held a secret conference on Britain's new proposal to drop the American-sponsored plan for a Palestine trusteeship and create instead a neutral commission.

The U. S. already was at odds with Russia over the trusteeship scheme. Russia insists on carrying out partition of Palestine under the Nov. 29, 1947, decision put through the U. N. under joint U. S.-Russian sponsorship.

Informed quarters said the U. S. will continue to press for action on the trusteeship project despite Britain's declaration yesterday that such a plan would not work.

Both the American-sponsored trusteeship plan and the British proposal were up for discussion this afternoon by the 58-member political committee of the special Palestine assembly.

A U. S. spokesman said his delegation feels the British plan was worth considering but that the U. S. is not convinced it would work any better than a streamlined trusteeship.

It was emphasized, however, that no final U. S. decision had been taken on the British proposal and probably will not until it is elaborated in more concrete terms.

In this connection, it was noted that the chief U. S. delegate, Warren R. Austin, plans to leave for Washington tonight.

While Austin is going primarily to state his views before a congressional committee on proposals to strengthen the U. N., informed quarters said he undoubtedly will discuss the Palestine problem with top administration officials.

Triple Tragedy
Grand alley, Ontario — (AP) — Triplets, an extremely rare occurrence among standardized horses, recently were foaled by the mare Mabel Grattan in this Canadian town — but all three were dead upon foaling. Two of the girls, which arrived 82 days ahead of schedule, were of normal size while the third was not much larger than a cat, although normal in proportions.

The 23 for which he is contesting. The polls opened at 8:30 a. m. (EST) and close at 8:30 p. m. Between 8 and 9 p. m. about 750,000 Republicans are expected to file into the polling places to back their choices.

The entire Republican turnout had a chance to vote for only one Stassen delegate, former State Supreme Court Justice, Carrington T. Marshall, who is running in a field of 10 at-large candidates.

Assured of at least eight at-large delegates, and 22 from districts where he is unopposed, Taft is certain to come out of the fight with a neat nest egg of at least 30 Ohioans to back his bid for the presidential nomination at Philadelphia.

Stassen, with shining primary victories in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Pennsylvania, remained confident he would capture at least a dozen delegates.

Ohioans generally conceded any Stassen radio new vote might be a sideshow as a presidential contender, but leave him in command of a considerable number of delegates from other states.

Stassen bid strongly in a Cleveland radio new vote might be a sideshow as a presidential contender, but leave him in command of a considerable number of delegates from other states.

The Ohio senator, voting in his home town of Cincinnati today, lashed out at communism as "the greatest threat to freedom of the world in a final round of speeches there last night."

In response to a question, he said he would even favor lining up with Argentina and Spain in the fight on the Communists. He said fascism is the greatest threat to the world in a final round of speeches there last night.

Political developments elsewhere: Communist also was the subject of another GOP presidential aspirant, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who takes on Stassen in Oregon's May 21 primary.

Campaigning for support in that contest Dewey last night attacked proposals — which Stassen has backed — to outlaw the Communist party.

To take such action, the New Yorker declared, would be to adopt the methods of Communism itself.

At Columbia, Mo., third party candidate Henry A. Wallace, told hecklers they were "fellow travelers" for interfering with his speech. Wallace had just commented that he would not enjoy freedom of speech in Russia.

There was voting, too, in Alabama, Delaware, Florida and Indiana, but only in Alabama was a major political issue involved.

Democrats there selected 25 convention delegates from a field of 84 candidates — 29 of whom had said they will quit the convention if President Truman's civil rights program is written into the party's platform.

The Florida primaries pick a 20-vote Democratic delegation and 16-vote GOP delegation plus candidates for six House seats, the governorship and state ticket.

Indiana voters selected nominees for the state's 11 House seats as well as delegates to state conventions which later will name national convention slates.

Delaware's 10 Democratic delegates are expected to support President Truman for the party nomination, Missouri's 34-vote delegation was named yesterday with those instructions.

A Republican faction in Georgia also named a convention slate yesterday, and left it unstructured. An opposition GOP group in the same state will meet later.

In another election yesterday, the lightest Maryland turnout in years chose six nominees for the Congressional races. A November 2 Republican and three Democratic incumbents were renominated. A fourth Democrat was defeated.

Colombia Breaks With Russia
By The Associated Press
Colombia became the third Latin American nation today to sever diplomatic relations with Russia. A break has been expected ever since President Mariano Ospina Perez blamed international communism for the bloody April 9 revolution.

The Colombian cabinet decided on the break late yesterday. A short time later a note announcing the action was delivered to the Soviet legation. Its contents were not disclosed.

The government radio broadcast in English an announcement of the rupture last night. Informants believed the government will inform Colombian citizens of its decision today.

Colombians action followed the suit of Chile and Brazil. Both broke with the Soviets Oct. 21, 1947. A 21-nation decision condemning international communism is in force.

Other events around the world: The House Foreign Affairs Committee had before it the tough issue of revising the United Nations charter to get around Russia's frequent use of the veto.

The U. N. trusteeship council virtually abandoned hope of forming an effective plan to safeguard Jerusalem. The International Red Cross now is trying to stop fighting in the Palestine capital.

Chirkavarhi Rajagopalachari, Hindu lawyer and politician who wears a simple loin cloth as did Gandhi, was approved by King George VI last night to be new governor general of India in place of Pakistan Premier Sir Khali-ud-Din.

Mrs. W. T. McCasland, a teacher in the 5th graders' room, told how she started the kids singing as the twister thundered through their town.

The storm swept across 20 miles of Texas countryside, including McKinney and the small communities of Princeton and Merit. It killed three persons and injured 71 others seriously.

Mrs. McCasland, a calm woman in her late 40's, said she didn't like the way the sky was darkening as the school day neared its end. The Family Finch grade school had already dismissed the first three of its six grades.

The 45 youngsters in Mrs. McCasland's room were stirring in anticipation of the final bell.

Then the tornado struck. Mrs. McCasland pretended not to notice the storm and told the class:

"And now, Sylvia Simpson will lead us in singing 'April Showers.'"

As the wind howled outside, the lovely little black-haired girl of 10 led her classmates in singing about the welcome showers that bring May flowers.

Mrs. McCasland thought the little girl was wonderful.

The storm buffeted the schoolhouse, shattering banks of windows on the west side, opposite Mrs. McCasland's room. When the fury subsided, the kids from each room went to help youngsters who suffered cuts from flying glass.

Although rattlesnakes develop it to four new rattles a year it is not a rattler because they are worn away and lost by vibration.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS
Chicago, May 4 — (AP) — Grain futures were steady but firm today's session at the board of trade. Prices advanced on mill buying, an increased threat of a rail strike, and a lower estimate of winter wheat production by private sources.

Soybeans lead the advance, reaching the daily limit of 8 cents a bushel during the morning session. Nearby contracts advanced more sharply than deferred deliveries on short covering. In the event of the rail strike present low visible supplies would make deliveries difficult.

At the finish wheat was 1 3-4 to 3 1-4 cents higher than the previous close, May $2.46-46 1-4. Corn was 1-2 to 1-2 higher, May $2.21-22. Oats were 1-2 lower to 5-8 higher, May $1.11 3-8-1-2. Soybeans were unchanged to 7 cents higher, May $4.04.

Soy wheat was called nominally higher with futures trading low, although no sales were reported; basis was unchanged; receipts eight cars. Corn was unchanged to three cents higher; basis around unchanged; bookings 51,000 bushels; shipping sales 10,000 bushels; receipts 20 cars; oats were unchanged to two cents higher; basis 1-2 cent easier; shipping sales 25,000 bushels; receipts 16 cars. Soybeans receipts were two cars.

Good News For Folks Who Suffer From STOMACH GAS
SOUR FOOD TASTE
ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress. Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else this food may ferment, sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is the only effort in increasing the flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia — so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Bill Aimed at 'Press Leaks' Is Favored

Washington, May 4 — (AP) — A bill that would permit the jailing of newsmen who print leaks of confidential information given to congressional committees was approved today by the House Rules Committee.

It still must be passed by the House and the Senate and be approved by the president before becoming effective.

The measure would require all executive departments to provide congressional committees on demand whatever information the committees decide they need.

The committees would decide by majority vote whether the information, or part of it, should be made public.

Upon a committee decision that the information should be held confidential, it would be a misdemeanor for anyone to divulge it or publish it. The maximum punishment for a violation would be one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

The penalty would apply not only to newsmen but to any other members or employees or any other individual obtaining knowledge of the information and disclosing it "in any manner whatever not provided by law."

Chairman Hoffman (R-Mich.) of the House Expenditures Committee, which drafted the legislation, admitted to the Rules Committee that the press would be affected by the bill.

Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) a Rules Committee member and a newspaper publisher, suggested that the penalty provision be amended. Brown said it raises a question of the constitutional rights of the press.

He told newsmen later he will offer an amendment when the bill reaches the House floor to exempt bona fide reporters from the penalty provisions. His amendment, he said, would make the punishment applicable to committee members or employees who "leak information to reporters, but would not punish reporters who print the leaks."

Hoffman contended that if a newspaperman obtains and publishes information deemed confidential, "there's no reason why he shouldn't be punished."

To Restrict Drafting of Doctors

Washington, May 4 — (AP) Senators working on draft legislation agreed today to restrict calls for doctors and dentists into the armed services.

Chairman Gurney (R-S.D.) told reporters after a closed-door meeting of the Senate Armed Services Committee that problems of limiting the draft of medical men are delaying final action on the measure.

He said the members are agreed there must be restrictions.

"All medical men cannot be taken from one community and leave civilians without any protection," Gurney said.

The committee is working on a bill that would (a) authorize temporary draft of men 19 through 25 years for two years service in the armed service. (2) Provide a one-year training program for some 100,000 18-year olds with the regular armed forces.

The House Armed Services Committee turned out a straight two-year draft bill yesterday. Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) said the House should act soon and added:

"I don't see any reason now why it will not pass. Gurney said it will be necessary to have a special registration for doctors."

The Senate bill calls for registration of men 18 through 25 but would allow drafting of doctors and dentists under age 46.

The Senate committee agreed last night to a revision of a ban against overseas service by the 18-year olds called for one year training.

"The navy has to take them out on the ocean on ships to train them," he said, adding that the revision probably will let the navy, army and air forces train doctors in territories and possessions of the United States and adjacent islands and waters.

The House Armed Services Committee approved its bill yesterday by a 28-10 vote.

Martin said it will go on the House calendar as soon as the schedule can be arranged.

The committees top heavy vote moved Congress and military leaders one step nearer a showdown

Plenty Ways to Make Old Clothes Look Like New

If you are tired of a jacket of a suit, try cutting it off at the waistline for a fitted jacket or above the waistline for a bolero. Then wear it with dressy cotton blouses or embroidery or lace trimmed batiste.

Your topper coat may have the makings for a pecky short coat that goes with everything. Get some gay colored ribbon and a bunch of pretty flowers to trim last year's hat. Set it on the back of your head and listen to all the compliments you will have on your new hat. Hats are worn off the face this year and are generously trimmed with flowers, ribbons and veils.

All snakes shed their skins regularly.

on the present three-way tussle among the House, Senate and the administration over combining military training and the draft in a single bill.

The situation is at this stage right now:

1. The Senate Armed Services Committee is waiting for Secretary of the Army Royall to recommend details of a 10-year universal military training. They would be taken in addition to men of the 18-through-25 age group drafted for two years service in the army, navy, or air force.

Chairman Andrews (R-N.Y.) of the House committee has called this plan "utterly foolish, inconceivable and not called for. He says a draft and UMT could not be handled together, and UMT should be set up as a temporary draft expires."

2. The House bill, sponsored by Andrews, would provide for a straight 10-year universal military training. Royall and Secretary of Defense Forrestal had told the House committee they would like to get the Senate combination plan if they can.

The Oxford train drew into Paddington sharp on time. Miss Helen and Miss Alice stepped out onto the platform. Their suitcases were light and they could carry them easily. They'd been deciding on their way to town just what they would do. It was barely 3 o'clock and their train to the country wasn't due till 6:30.

"The Stanton Academy first, we thought, didn't we, dear?" said Miss Alice.

"I've not seen Madame Girard since Patience started. I'm glad to have a little chat with her, and to hear how she is getting on."

"They took the train to Great Portland Street. Miss Helen remembered the Academy was just around the next turning to the left. They rang the bell. They gave their names. The message came back that Madame Girard would be delighted to see them.

Miss Alice left her sister do the talking. Helen thought, was always so much better at this sort of thing than she was. She always knew just the right sort of questions to ask. And Madame Girard seemed rather a formidable sort of woman. Still, she appeared to be very pleasant. The way Patience was progressing, the way

"I really must tell you, Miss Melville," she was saying, "that I consider her one of my most painstaking pupils. She takes a real interest in her work."

"Patience certainly enjoys her days here, Madame Girard. I don't think she'd miss one of them for anything."

Madame Girard said she was glad to hear it. And certainly her attendance had hitherto been most regular. It was such a pity that she wasn't here today. They sat forward in their chairs.

"Not here today?" they echoed blankly.

Madame Girard looked from one to the other.

W. Bridgers and Mrs. Ernest O'Neal gave splendid talks on the "Daughters of the Different Countries."

Mrs. John Vesey read a poem "O Valiant Heart". The hostesses served delicious strawberry ice cream and cookies to eleven members present.

Coming and Going

Mrs. E. M. McWilliams flew to Los Angeles, California Monday morning to attend the bedside of her mother, Mr. Booth who is seriously ill. Mrs. Booth is reported some improved today.

They took a taxi. A commissionaire stepped smartly forward and opened the door for them as they drove up outside the main entrance to the block of luxury flats where Charlotte lived. Miss Alice looked about her with wide eyes as they entered the thickly-carpeted foyer and made their way to the lift.

"I suppose Charlotte makes a great deal of money. It's very bad for her, I consider. I don't approve of young girls living extravagantly."

Miss Alice sighed. She only hoped that once they reached the flat they'd find Patience there with Charlotte.

Neither girl, it seemed, was in. The maid who opened the door said she was sorry but Miss Mond wasn't at home. Nor Miss Patience Mond either.

"I'm their aunt," said Miss Helen, stepping firmly into the hall. "I'd like to wait until they return. Alice come along in."

The maid looked at them uncertainly. "I'm not quite sure when they will be back, madam."

"Where have they gone?" "Er—er—they've gone away for the weekend."

"Where?" "Well, madam, Miss Charlotte doesn't tell me where she goes when she goes away."

By now Elizabeth was treading warily. She'd guessed immediately who were her unexpected visitors. Miss Charlotte had said they were a couple of old tartars. She showed them into the drawing room and offered to make them tea.

"Thank you, we'd like some," said Miss Helen coldly. Elizabeth closed the door and was just crossing the hall as the front door bell rang. "Telegram for Mond," said the telegraph boy.

The Kentucky legislature has just passed a bill requiring a three-day waiting period for marriage after applying for a license. Thank Heaven for small favors, but what a pity the lawmakers didn't require a probationary period of six months, or even three weeks, in which an enamoured couple could think it over before they made the fatal trip to the altar.

A three years' contemplation of the hazards of matrimony would be an insurance against divorce, because it would give the high contracting parties a chance to test their feelings and find out if what they felt for each other was the grand passion, or just a passing fancy. To ascertain whether each other's faults and foibles got upon their nerves, or they loved them just because they were John's or Mary's funny little ways. And, not least, to discover whether John was a good provider or a ne'er-do-well, and whether Mary was a crackjack cook or a first aid to stomach ulcers.

For, unfortunately, married or single, we all have to eat, and it is hard to say romantic on an empty stomach. Naturally, taking as much time and thought to picking out a mate as you would give to selecting a new automobile would cut down the number of marriages, but the marriages that did make the grade would stick.

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. Written for NEA Service

The thyroid is a gland which lies at the front of the neck just above the breast bone. When it is enlarged, the condition is spoken of as goiter. When it is usually enlarged but the cells of the gland are secreting abnormally, a disease is produced known as toxic goiter.

The opposite condition, or insufficient secretion, is known as hypothyroidism. In children it is called cretinism. The most frequent cause in all children who are underweight at birth. Signs of slowed development of the bones which can be discovered by X-ray examination are also present.

Cretinism Rare Here Cretinism is now slowly and their mental development is also slow. The hair is likely to be thin and the skin dry. Teething is delayed, the abdomen is usually swollen, the legs short and thick and the extremities in general underdeveloped. In this country, however, cretinism is rare.

In grownups, insufficient thyroid secretion causes a condition called myxedema. This too is rather rare in this country and because it is so rare, its victims frequently remain diagnostic puzzles for many years before the cause is determined.

There are other signs of low thyroid activity in grownups. One of the most important means of diagnosis is the basal metabolism test which is run down to around 30 or 40 below normal.

Successful treatment consists in supplying the patient with thyroid extracts obtained from animals. The response to the proper treatment is remarkable. Symptoms disappear rather quickly. Even in children when treatment with thyroid extract is begun early, growth and development can be re-established.

QUESTION: What ointment is recommended for psoriasis? ANSWER: There is no single ointment for this skin disease. It is frequently necessary to try more than one preparation on the skin and perhaps internally.

THE SCOUTING TRAIL

Boy Scout troops from all over Caddo Area Council will meet at Camp Preston Hunt, May 7 and 8 for the annual spring roundup camporee. District camporees, in the form of practice sessions, have been held in each of the nine districts in the council. All patrols attending the camp will participate in the ten patrol events on Saturday morning.

All troops will receive an award according to the rating earned, since they will be competing against a standard.

Camping and activities chairman Nolen Tollett is to head a staff of judges from Hempstead district to help run the patrol events.

Aide Won't Talk on Postponement of Wedding

Lausanne, Switzerland, May 3 (AP)—An aide to former King Mihail of Romania said today he "could not confirm or deny reports that Mihail's marriage to Princess Anne of Bourbon Parme has been postponed indefinitely. The aide is Maj. Jacques Vergotti.

An individual close to Mihail's household said there "seems to be a conflict between religion and politics."

"He was supposed to marry her this month in Denmark, but certain complications have developed," the source said. "I do not know what they are and we can only wait and see what develops."

Mihail celebrated Easter yesterday in the Greek Orthodox church. Princess Anne is a Roman Catholic. Her brother, Prince Michel, said in Copenhagen the marriage plans are "somewhat complicated."

"Nothing is impossible," he said. "Everything can be straightened out."

whose tastes change with their growth, who have no knowledge of the responsibilities of life, and who have never earned a dollar and have no way of supporting a family, who need the protection of the law to keep them from wrecking their lives by making marriages that will be a millstone around their necks as long as they live.

No other one thing has brought more suffering and sorrow to more people than these child-marriages. They have filled the divorce courts with bitter and disillusioned husbands and wives whose love had turned to loathing when they grew up. They have blighted the lives of countless child-mothers burdened with the cares of motherhood while their feet still ached to dance. And, worst of all, they have wrecked the lives of their parents by bringing home bobby-sox wives or pipsqueak husbands for their fathers and mothers to support.

If there is anything that can bring more grief to a family than for children to wreck all of their parents' plans and hopes and ambitions for them by making a child-marriage, it isn't in the books. And that is why I say Heaven bless the Kentucky lawyers who are, at least, trying to compel people to look before they leap into marriage.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy. . . It helps keep the skin soft and pliable. . . thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin. . . for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by nurses, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

Hostility to Communism Is Growing Stronger in Most European Countries

By DeWitt MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Hostility to communism's ruthlessness continues to grow in the democracies, and among the many striking evidences of this is the British Socialist party's purge of extreme leftist members in the House of Commons.

John Bull's Socialists are on the whole middle-of-the-road politically but until recently had regarded their left wing with considerable tolerance. The Bolsheviks' brutal rape of Czechoslovakia, however, produced a tremendous reaction against the Red in the British western Europe. This was intensified by Communist threats of taking over the Italian government by force if the national elections went against them.

Small wonder then that the leadership of the British Labor (Socialist) party should have "seen red" when left-wing members in Parliament sent a telegram to Pietro Nenni, leader of pro-Communist Italian Socialists, wishing them success in the elections. The agitation was doubly severe since the message was counter to the British party policy of supporting anti-Communism in the election.

John P. Mills, regarded as a right leader in sending the message, has been expelled from the party. This doesn't deprive him of his seat in Commons, but excludes him from caucuses and deprives him of party support if he is a candidate again. Twenty-one other members whose names appeared on the message were warned to affirm their loyalty to the party by May 15 or face further action. Another 15 have already retracted or have denied signing the telegram.

That is the most sensational house-cleaning which the Socialists have undertaken since they came to power in '45. It's a fair example of the position being taken by the Socialist countries of western Europe as a whole. And here it should be noted that there is small relationship between the ordinary or garden variety of socialism and the Soviet brand of totalitarian dictatorship maintained by force.

British socialism isn't by any means alone in striking at the Bolshevism which hangs on the left wings of Socialist parties in general. In Italy the loyal Socialists are dissociating themselves from those who call themselves Socialists but take their orders from Moscow. The same is true in

Rain Idles All Games in the Cotton League

By The Associated Press

Rain cancelled all the games in the Cotton States baseball league last night and left Hot Springs still leading the loop today.

Hot Springs was half a game ahead of Greenwood, with Helena third.

The clubs will try again tonight with the same pairings as last night — El Dorado at Pine Bluff, Natchez at Hot Springs, Greenville at Helena and Greenwood at Clarksdale.

Governor's Race Narrows to Eight

Little Rock, May 3 — (UP)—Arkansas' gubernatorial field was trimmed to eight men today, following the formal withdrawal of Hardy "Spider" Rowland as a candidate.

Rowland, Little Rock newspaper columnist who paid his filing fee shortly before last Wednesday's noon deadline, announced that he would not make the race.

Meanwhile, other candidates were preparing to set up organizations before launching into full-scale campaigning late this month or early in June.

Sid McMath, of Hot Springs, opened headquarters in the new Capitol Hotel here today and scheduled a meeting of his "advisory committee" to decide on a campaign manager and other personnel. Former Atty. Gen. Jack Holt of Little Rock arranged headquarters in the Hotel Gleason but said the opening date and his campaign manager would be announced later.

In other developments a self-termed "practical business man" opened his drive Saturday afternoon to succeed "Business Ben" Laney as governor.

He was Charles A. Fleming, former county judge of St. Francis county.

Opening his campaign at Conway, Fleming said, "I am a practical business man and it takes a practical man to make good governor."

The elderly candidate declared that schools and roads are the principal needs of the state and added, "they are my first concern."

Fleming placed himself on record as opposing higher taxes or additional road bonds and admitted that he does not know where he would get money for highway maintenance and construction. However, he told his listeners that he had no money when elected county judge of St. Francis county but added that he built 451 miles of road while in office.

In Little Rock former Internal Revenue Collector Horace E. Thompson also planned a meeting of his steering committee to map out campaign plans. Thompson previously said he would open headquarters in the Martin building, directly across from McMath's headquarters.

James Merritt of McGehee, former Arkansas commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said he planned Little Rock offices about May 10 while Bob Ed Loftin of Fort Smith, another V-F-W head, was awaiting a decision from his steering committee before announcing headquarters plans. He said he would probably maintain Fort Smith headquarters only during the early part of the campaign.

John Lonsdale of Lonsdale and James (Uncle Mac) Mackrell of Little Rock continued as the only vigorous campaigners — both touring the state with musical accompaniment. Mackrell was the first man to open capital city headquarters.

And as the campaign moved into its first full week, a proposed debate between McMath and Holt at the University of Arkansas on June 4 loomed prominently as the green light for all-out campaigning.

Other candidates may appear on the platform with the two University of Arkansas graduates.

Pulitzer Award to Tennessee Williams

New York, May 4 — (UP) — Tennessee Williams, 33-year-old Southern-born playwright, held top honors today in the 1948 Pulitzer Prize competition for his hit Broadway play, "A Streetcar Named Desire."

The fiction award went to "Tales of the South Pacific" by James A. Michener. The awards, which carry a cash prize of $500 each, were announced yesterday by the Pulitzer Prize committee, made up of the trustees of Columbia University.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch carried off the newspaper prize for its coverage of the Centralia, Ill., mine disaster and subsequent stories which resulted in major mine safety reforms.

The trustees, in awarding the newspaper a $500 gold medal, said its mine stories resulted in "impressive reforms in mine safety laws and regulations."

This was the first year since 1945 that prizes were granted to entries in all categories of journalism, letters and music.

Other winners of Pulitzer journalism awards were:

Edmund G. Connelley of the Atlanta Journal, distinguished for reporting for his story of the vote fraud in Telfair County, Ga.

Virginia Dabney of the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch, distinguished editorial writing, "the test being clearness of style, moral purpose, reasoning and power to influence public opinion."

Frank Cushing of the Boston Traveler, outstanding news photography. Cushing's prize-winning picture showed a 15-year-old delinquent boy using another school boy as a shield from police gun-fire.

Nat S. Finney of the Minneapolis Tribune and Bert Andrews of the New York Herald Tribune for distinguished reporting on national affairs.

Finney's award was made for his stories in the Truman administration plan "to impose secrecy about ordinary affairs of federal agencies during peace time, Andrews was singled out for his exclusive series on the firing of a State Department employee as a bad security risk without having a chance to defend himself."

Paul W. Ward of the Baltimore Sun for distinguished reporting on international affairs for his articles on life in the Soviet Union.

Reuben L. (Rube) Goldberg of the New York Sun for his cartoon "Peace Today."

The prizes in letters included awards to "Across the Wide Missouri" by Bernard Devoto, in the field of American history; to "Forgotten First Citizen: John Bigelow" by Margaret Clapp, in the field of biography, and to "The Age of Anxiety" by W. H. Auden, in poetry.

The committee also awarded a $500 prize to Russian Walter P. Reuther for his Symphony No. 3.

On the nomination of the National Academy of Design, the committee awarded a $1,500 scholarship in art to Philip Moose of New York.

"Streetcar" is the second successful play by Tennessee Williams, often acclaimed as the most important new dramatist in the modern American theater.

Williams won the critics circle awards in 1945-46 and 1947-48 for "The Glass Menagerie" and "Streetcar."

Both hit plays were laid in the Deep South, the country Williams knows best. "Streetcar" is the story of a New Orleans prostitute trapped by circumstances and trying to escape the realities of the everyday world.

Here and There in Arkansas

Hot Springs, May 4 — (AP) — A first degree perjury indictment against Samuel Kirsch, operator of the Esskay Art Galleries, has been dismissed.

Circuit Judge Clyde H. Brown sustained a demurrer in which Kirsch contended he was within his constitutional rights, and that as principal in the case under investigation, he could not be required to testify against himself.

The indictment grew out of a grand jury investigation of bribery charges.

Judge Brown also continued until May 28 cases of Mrs. Eleanor Maxwell and John Maxwell, charged in connection with theft of $25,000 in jewelry from the Esskay Galleries in November, 1946. Maxwell is charged with burglary and grand larceny and Mrs. Maxwell with accessory to burglary and grand larceny.

Little Rock, May 4 — (AP) — State chartered banks had total deposits of $252,125,303 on April 12, Commissioner Tom W. Leggett has reported.

He said the total on Dec. 31, 1947 was $266,115,900.

The figures were compiled from reports submitted in response to a call by Leggett for statements of condition of state banks on April 12.

Little Rock, May 4 — (AP) — Rates on most freight shipments between Arkansas points ran up to 20 per cent after May 8.

The Arkansas Public Service Commission has authorized 16 railroads operating in the state to increase intrastate rates to correspond with higher interstate building materials such as asphalt, gravel, chat, sand and crushed stone.

The Arkansas Commission, however, authorized only 10 per cent ever, denied rate increases on road hikes in rates on cement, agricultural limestone, fertilizer and fertilizer materials.

The order said testimony at a March hearing showed that the railroad's operating revenues in 1947 were approximately $175,000, 000 greater than in 1929, but produced $3,500,000 less net operating income.

Arkadelphia, May 4 — (AP) — The Arkansas Commemorative Commission will open bids June 3 on construction work necessary at the Arkansas War Memorial Building in Little Rock.

Dr. D. D. McBrien, chairman of the commission for restoring and rehabilitating the former state capitol, said the commission would seek first to restore structural soundness of the building.

Jonesboro, May 4 — (AP) — Howard Blue Clardy has been convicted by a Craighead Circuit Court jury on a charge of operating a gambling house. He was sentenced to two years imprisonment.

Clardy, charged with operating the Blue Place, three miles south of Jonesboro, contended he had rented it to Edgar Pearson.

Joe Buchanan was convicted on a similar charge by a circuit court jury last week.

Helena, May 4 — (AP) — A circuit court jury has convicted Sterling Newsome of second degree murder in the slaying of Richard Bishop, and fixed his sentence at six years imprisonment.

Newsome, Phillips county tenant farmer, was charged with firing a shotgun through a door of the Bishop home on the Shinnott plantation south of here last November.
